The goodness of God, his mercy and loving kindness to the human race, are stamped upon the hearts of every intelligent creature. None can reflect on these things, without feetings of gratitude towards their Maker. But,
and the cares of life, how few are there who permit their thoughts to wander from earthly pursuits—from the aspirings of ambition—the pursuit of gain, or the temptations of vice. How few who turn aside from their ordinary pursuits,
"to commune with their own hearts," to duell
on the beingnity and kindness of their Creator.

For these things let us remember the Holy One; for these things let us keep this day sacred to prayor and thanksgiving.—Charleston Courier.

It is ever to be kept in mind that a good name is in all cases the fruit of personal exertion. It is in all cases the fruit of personal exercion. It is not inherited from parents; it is not created by external advantages; it is no necessary appendage of birth, or wealth, or takents, or station; but the result of one's own endoxyours—the fruit and reward of good principles, manifested in a course of virtuous and honorable action. This is course of virtuous and honorable action. This is the more important to be remarked, because it shows that the attainment of a good name, whatever be rour external circumstances is entirely within your power. No young man, however humble his birth, or obscure his condition, is excluded from the invaluable boon. He has only to fix his eye upon the prize, and press towards it, in a course of virtuous and useful conduct, and it is his. And it is interesting to notice how many of our worthiest and bust citizens have stand forth, bright and animating examples of what can be accomplished by resolution and effort. Indeed, my friends, in the formation of character, pe sonal exertion is the first, the second, and the third virtue. Nothing great or excellent can be acquired without it. A good name will not come without being sought. All the virtues of which it is composed are the result of untiring application and industry.

Thousands of young men have been ruined by relying for a good name on their honorable parentage, or inherited wealth, or the patronage of fronds. Flattered by these distinctions, they have felt as of the second.

of friends. Flattered by these distinctions, they have felt as if they might live without effortmerely for their own gratification and induigence. No mistake is more fatal. It always issues in producing an inefficient and usoless character. On this account it is that character and wealth rarely continue in the same family more than two or three generations.

In the formation of a good character, it is of great importance that the early pair of life be improved and guarded with the utmost careful-

The state of the control of the cont interrepted respiration, occasioned by the swelling, and formation of a preternatural membrane in the upper portion of the windpipe. In this ritical state, and as the only means of rehef, the operation of Tracheotomy, or opening the windpipe directly abace the breast bone, was advised and performed by Dr. Joseph T. Pitney, of this village, in the presence of a number of medical gentlemen. After having cut with great caution, more than one inch deep, through various parts, the windpipe was exposed to view, and an incrision made into it, through which there and an incision made into it, through which there was an instantaneous gush of bloody-muce-purulent matter. To facilitate respiration, and the discharge of mucus from the lungs and trachea, the opening was then collarged by cutting out a small portion of the windpipe, through which she breathed and expectorated freely, and was completely relieved. Her pulse instantly rose, and became distinct and regular. A silver tube was tuen introduced, lest the sides of the wound might collapse; but from apprehensions of its irritation and obstruction to the free diswas completely relieved. Her pulse instantly rose, and became distinct and regular. A siver tube was then introduced, lest the sides of the wound might collapse; but from apprehensions of its critation and obstruction to the free discharge of the mucus, it was removed, and no necessity occurred for replacing it. HORRIBLE MURDER.

On Wednesday, the 3d inst. Mr. Thomas King was murdered, about forty miles from Wilmington, N. C. on the Holly Shelter road, leading to Onslow Court House. He was returning home, after visiting his neighbours, John, James and Stratton Burton, who live near the waters of Holly Shelter Desert, when he was murdered by some person lying in wait for the dreadful purposo. The body was found in the woods, near the road, on the night of Thursday, the 4th instant, and was mangled and disfigured in a most shocking manner. Mr. King was a poor man, but was highly esteemed in his neighbourhood. He has left a wife and five or six young children. Suspicions were awakened with rechildren. Suspicions were awakened with re-spect to the perpetrator of this deed, by the circumstance of finding, near the hody of Mr. King, a pass, written by Mr. Elijah Shepherd, for his negro slave, Arthur, and these suspicions were confirmed by the facts, of recent occurrence, that Arthur had been detected by Mr. King in the practice of riding his horses, and that Mr. King had threatened him with punishment on the repetition of the offence. It is not ascertained, nor is it believed, that Arthur had any accomplice: but a negro who was, in some ort, accessary to the deed, has disclosed parti culars relative to it. It appears, in brief, by this disclosure, that Arthur assaulted Mr. King, who was on horseback, about three miles from his house, wrested his gun from him in the struggle for the mastery, and beat him to death with it; and it was evident that the deceased had fought desperately, from the appearance of the ground for about thirty yards square. As soon as Arthur was suspected, search was made for him, but for some time he eluded pursuit.— He has since been apprehended, and it is said that a posse is in pursuit of some other negrees, who are suspected of being either accessaries of

On the 5th ult. the Jubilee, ascending the Mississippi, when in between five and six fathom water, struck a snag about four feet below the through which the water rushed with fapidity. She was within a few yards of the Arkansas shore, on which the captain ordered the pilot to run her. The bank, generally, is high and per-pendicular, but near the spot where she struck is, fortunately, an opening, the only one in a dis-tance of some miles: into this the boat was run, and her passengers were enabled to effect a landing. The boat was filling fast; and, in full passenger was too anxious to save his life and property, to render any assistance to the captain and crew, who, with blankets and carpets, were endeavouring to stop the leak, in the hope of keeping her above water, till the freight, &c. could be got on shore. The leak gained so fast, however, that their chance of success was ex-ceedingly small, when the Oregon, descended the river, perceived her situation, rounded too and came alongside. Immediately, Captain R. an, his passengers and crew, jumped on board, and commenced bailing, &c. while the carpenters of both vessels went below and temporarily stopped the leak.—Missouri Republican.

The Youth's Journal relates an answer given by a child to impertinent liquities, which is too good to be hopf a merat from step-fathers end step-mothers—A widower in New-Eagland, having children, married a widow who had children also. One of the feguels women in the neighborhood, having a most benevolent itching to learn how affairs moved on after the junction of these families, inquired of one of the boys, "how he liked his step-mother, or mother-in-law?" to which he promptly replied that he had none. The woman rejoined, "Why, yes, you have. You don't think she is your mother. Does she treat you as well as she does her own children!" The boy shrewdly and wisely replied: "When father and mother matried, he had children, and we went there to live with her, and she took the ghildren, and mixed us all up together, like hasty pusiding, and has not known us apart since."—Boston Palladium.

Augusta, Georgia, Dec. 8.—A few months past, it was a very general impression that the cotton crop of this year would not exceed that of the last, which fell short of the crop of 1826, by nearly 300,000 bales. It is now believed that the opinion was erroneous—that the present crop will be a full one, but little, if any, inferior to that of 1826. The quantities have arrived within teh days; several of the ware-houses averaging in their receipts 200 bales per day. The price is not altered from our last quotations, being from 8 1-2 to 9 1-2, though we are informed that Mr. Byrne, of Burke County, who received the premium for the second best cotton last December, refused on Friday, 10 cts. for a lot of about 40 bales.
